ON VISITING SRI VEERABRAMHENDHRA SWAMI OLD AGE HOME ON THE OCCASION 151ST GANDHI ANNIVERSARY

Theme

Institutional living among the aged is becoming an increasingly common form of living in some societies, especially among the oldest of the old. Certain elders are especially likely to live in an institutional setting, if the family is not in a position to provide care to them. For those who are economically inactive, their economic sustenance should come from either family or their own savings or society in the form of old-age pension.

Programme

As part of the 151st Gandhi Anniversary activity the NCC cadets of CSSR & SRRM Degree & PG College visited Sri Veerabramhendra Swami Old Age Home on Friday, 02nd October 2020. NCC cadets greeted them with a bright smile. Sri.K.Subbarayudu the Manager and the founder of the old age home welcomed us from core of his heart affectionately. We enquired the manager about the facilities and the reasons how the old people got into the old age home. We also asked the manager how the home has been running since 2010. He explained that it has been running on donations, invitations and even amount (offering) by institutions. After the introduction, the cadets started off with the introduction with them. Meanwhile, the other cadets invited grandpas and grandmas to come up and enjoy. It was a different kind of satisfaction altogether, to hear their cheerful laughs, their toothless smiles and hushed giggles. The very purpose of the visit had been achieved. Later we provided provisions to the old age home. Soon after cadets served food to the old people. They felt very happy, shared their joy with us and said their gratitude. The trip ended by planting a tree at old age home.

The volunteers in association with villagers found right places to plant the trees which ensure availability of water, fertility of soil, sunlight and adequate guards for plants. The volunteers, students, parents, children and villagers planted the plants in the villages and some plants are distributed to the villagers and they promised that they will take care of them. The students of different villages along with their neighbors planted the trees as it has been raining for the past one week. The climate is so conducive that it is the right time to plant the trees to sustain green environment. The participation of the elders in the tree plantation programme is quite encouraging. The village surpanch, ward members, staff of the village secretariat appreciated the timely undertaken tree plantation programme. The Sub inspector of Police, Kamalapuram Sri. K Naga Tusali Prasad along with his police officers actively participated in the tree plantation activity and admired the volunteers for organizing such a timely programme to save the environment. The Tahasildar (Mandal Revenue officer) Sri. K. Vijaya Kumar joined the tree plantation programme and appreciated the volunteers for a wonderful well timed programme. They say that we must try our best to solve the problem of environmental pollution and strive hard taking up environmental development programmes so as to reinstate eco friendly green environment for the next generations in future.

Feedback and Success Story

The feedback from the village participants, officials and NSS, NCC and UBA volunteers has been quite encouraging though the Covid situation is under the curfew. The students restricted themselves to their places while participating in the programme. The parents, the siblings and the elders not only appreciated the activity of tree plantation and safeguarding the planted trees but also their active participation in it is quite encouraging. The rain favored the initiative to continue the tree plantation activities by the students for two more days in the respective villages. In a nut shell it has been “the right activity at right rainy time in the right places.”
